Wild Bunch Riesling

EDEN VALLEY

Wild Bunch Riesling started its life in the high country of Eden Valley, otherwise known as High Eden. Grapes are grown on a single vineyard owned by the Brown family, and these Riesling vines are 75 years plus and are some of the oldest in the region. Eden Valley is cool climate and renowned for producing stunning Riesling and Chardonnay.

WINEMAKER: Peter Clarke PROPRIETOR: Claire Doughty

This Riesling has lovely aromatics with lashes of citrus and lime, generous flavour, and tight minerality. The finish is well-rounded and soft, with balanced acidity.

Grapes are handpicked late February from a north-facing single vineyard, sitting on one of Eden Valley's highest points (600 metre elevation).

Soils are shallow and rocky. The block experiences cooler temperatures of approximately seven degrees less than Barossa Valley floor. Due to these conditions, our Wild Bunch grapes retain beautiful acidity and flavour.
